SERVE PENNY LUNCHES

Plan Adopted at Many Chicago Public Schools.

Chicago, Ill., November 15.—Penny lunches, which the school board as an experiment began to serve a few months ago, have developed into a part of the curriculum in several of the public schools here. They have been found to be of great value in making the children more plump and the brains more active.

Before the lunches were instituted many of the children seemed backward in their studies. It was found that nearly all of these came from families in straitened circumstances. Then the school board began the lunches to see if it was found that there was a remarkable improvement.

At a school on the North Side Italian district yesterday 201 children were fed. They disposed of seventeen loaves of bread, generously spread with butter and molasses, and six gallons of milk. In addition to being fed, the children are taught table eliquette.

Dr. Levy on Local Situation.

Mr. Gunn's paper colled forth the widest discussion of the day, most of the speakers indersing the stand taken in it, although differing from it in minor details. Dr. E. C. Levy, chief health officer of Richmond, opened the discussion by taking exception to what he called undue emphasis on the part of Mr. Gunn on the idea of enforcing strict economy in municipal health work. He saw a difference between expenses incurred in work for safeguarding the public health and expenditures for any other city department. Human life, he said, is a far different thing from so many miles of watersizes. Taft's Tribute to Man Who

Hospital for Contagious Diseases

Hospital for Contagious Discases. Richmond's greatest need to-day, said Dr. Levy, is a hospital for communicable diseases. Such an institution, he said, would be the means of saving the city many times the amount it would cost to erect one. "The trouble with most American cities," said Mr. Baker, "is that they imagine a health department exists solely for the suppression of bad odors and the carting away of garbaye. In some cities these duties consume $455,600 of the $400,000 appropriated to the health department, leaving only $50,000 for the prosecution of its real work."

In the opinion of the speaker, public health work in America suffers from the scarcity of schools which are able to train proper men for the work. The greatest need is technical schools to turn out sanitary engineers and public health specialists. Dr. Otto Geier, of Cincinnati, who followed, admitted the need of the sanitary engineer, but was inclined to think that the greatest good to the greatest number will ultimately be effected through the agency of the physician. OPPOSE RESOLUTION priated for Defense of McNamaras.

Atlanta, Ga. November 15.—Labor leaders are making a strenuous effort to prevent the introduction into the convention of the American Federation of Labor now in session here of a resolution framed by the California delegation, appropriating $50,000 for the defense of the McNamara brothers. A large sum already has been raised for this purpose by private subscription, and the leaders contend, it is said, that whatever money is needed for the McNamara defense can be obtained in this manner without drawing upon the funds in the none too well stocked treasury of the federation.

Two brief sessions were held by the convention to-day, but practically no business was transacted.

The device consists of four cnunciator horns, like graphophones, set in the celling at the four corners of the car. The conductor will have a small telephone through which he will announce street names, his voice coming through the horns. It will be necessary to open the doors only when passengers are leaving the cars.

Nothing New Develops Regarding Disappearance of E. W. Mix.

Paris, November 15.—Nothing developed to day to throw greater light on the disappearance of Edgar W. Mix, the American consulting engineer and seronaut, who is supposed to have committed suicide by dropping overboard from a mail boat during the passage from Dover to Calais Sunday night.

Mr. Mix had the papers presenting the American side in the case of the Statue of Liberty flight, the prize for which was awarded successively to John B. Life-Termers Want to Head C. E. Society in Kentucky Peutteutiary.
Frankfort, Ky., November 15.—Curt Jett and Henry Youtsey, probably the most notorious of the life term prisoners in the Kentucky Penitentiary here, are both earnestly seeking election as president of the prison Christian Endeavor Society. The names of both figure in the Goebel trials and their surnames have figured heretofore in feud news from the mountains. They had a similar contest last year and youtsey won, though the balloting contest was so fast and furious and the vote so close that Jett made application afterward to Warden Mudd to contest the election. Politics has not figured largely in races inside the prison walls and the men have not divided strictly on party lines, but this time much partisan feeling has been worked up. Youtsey has the support of the Republicans and disgruntled Democrats and Jett has that of the Democrats and the Progressive Republicans.
